

Since I pay to have my phone in my own home I feel it is of my choice to determine who calls and who does not. If you want to have junk calling then don't sign up on the no call list. I think this is just another way for big business to push around the common folk. So keep the no call list in force but give people their choice. It seems we are losing our right each day and this just seems to be another.